

CHATS WITH YOUR GAS MAN

We want you to limit the amount of gas you use to your exact needs. Here are a few ways to do it.

If you are boiling water, do not heat a quart when a pint is enough. When the water comes to a boiling point and you wish to keep it there, it is not necessary to leave the gas on full to do so. Turn it down. Water violently agitated with a tremendous heat under it is only escaping in the form of steam.

"A watched pot never boils," they say, because in watching it you remove the cover and part of the heat escapes. Keep the covers of utensils on when it is possible and have covers fit properly.

Always light the gas after, not before, you have placed the utensil over the burner. Also turn out the gas before, not after taking the utensil off the range. In the course of a year, this little rule in itself will repay your care.

The demand for Dodge Brothers cars is the most insistent of our experience. In spite of the fact that our production day by day is the greatest that it has ever been, it still falls short of meeting the demand. Any car which is of unusual value and which buyers really want must necessarily be oversold at this time of the year. Under present conditions the demand for Dodge Brothers cars has grown so fast that it is impossible to serve all customers the moment they want cars. The factory is making every effort to have production meet demand. With our increased production the time which the customer must wait for delivery is being continually reduced. Carefully explain to your customers that the delay in delivery of these cars which seems so long at the immediate moment is of little consequence when figured over the life of the car. The great value in a Dodge Brothers car is well worth the slight delay in delivery.—letter from Dodge Brothers of June 19, 1922.
